

Table of Contents FOIA Exemptions RE: MTI on Aerostats

Section/Reference	Pages	Comments/FOIA Exemption
Block 7b. Redact Employee Name	Page 1	FOIA Exemptions 2 (high). The Department of Homeland Security (DHS) remains committed to protecting and ensuring the safety of its employees. Therefore, Title 5 U.S.C. § 552(b)(2) and (b)(6) precludes the release of this material. FOIA Exemption 2(high) protects information applicable to internal administrative and personnel matters, to the extent that disclosure may put the security and safety of an agency activity or employee at risk.
Block 10. Redact Location	Page 1	FOIA Exemptions 2 (high). The Department of Homeland Security (DHS) remains committed to protecting and ensuring the safety of its employees. Therefore, Title 5 U.S.C. § 552(b)(2) and (b)(6) precludes the release of this material. FOIA Exemption 2(high) protects information applicable to internal administrative and personnel matters, to the extent that disclosure may put the security and safety of an agency activity or employee at risk.
Block 17b. Redact Company Name (Multiple)	Page 1	Exemption 4 of the FOIA. This exemption protects "trade secrets and commercial or financial information obtained from a person [that is] privileged or confidential." This exemption is intended to protect the interests of both the government and submitters of information. The very existence of Exemption 4 encourages submitters to voluntarily furnish useful commercial or financial information to the government and provides the government with an assurance that required submissions will be reliable. ³ The exemption also affords protection to those submitters who are required to furnish commercial or financial information to the government by safeguarding them from the competitive disadvantages that could result from disclosure. AND/OR Exemption (7)(E) of the FOIA. This exemption protects from disclosure information which would reveal techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions or that would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if disclosure of the information could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law.

Block 17e. Redact Company Name (Multiple)	Page 1	Exemption 4 of the FOIA. This exemption protects "trade secrets and commercial or financial information obtained from a person [that is] privileged or confidential." This exemption is intended to protect the interests of both the government and submitters of information. The very existence of Exemption 4 encourages submitters to voluntarily furnish useful commercial or financial information to the government and provides the government with an assurance that required submissions will be reliable.³ The exemption also affords protection to those submitters who are required to furnish commercial or financial information to the government by safeguarding them from the competitive disadvantages that could result from disclosure. AND/OR Exemption (7)(E) of the FOIA. This exemption protects from disclosure information which would reveal techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions or that would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if disclosure of the information could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law.
Block 17f. Redact Unit Pricing Name (Multiple)	Page 1	Exemption 4 of the FOIA. This exemption protects "trade secrets and commercial or financial information obtained from a person [that is] privileged or confidential." This exemption is intended to protect the interests of both the government and submitters of information. The very existence of Exemption 4 encourages submitters to voluntarily furnish useful commercial or financial information to the government and provides the government with an assurance that required submissions will be reliable.³ The exemption also affords protection to those submitters who are required to furnish commercial or financial information to the government by safeguarding them from the competitive disadvantages that could result from disclosure. AND/OR Exemption (7)(E) of the FOIA. This exemption protects from disclosure information which would reveal techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions or that would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if disclosure of the information could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law.
Block 22. Redact Employee Name	Page 1	FOIA Exemptions 2 (high). The Department of Homeland Security (DHS) remains committed to protecting and ensuring the safety of its employees. Therefore, Title 5 U.S.C. § 552(b)(2) and (b)(6) precludes the release of this material. FOIA Exemption 2(high) protects information applicable to internal administrative and personnel matters, to the extent that disclosure may put the security and safety of an agency activity or employee at risk.

Block 23. Redact Employee Name	Page 1	FOIA Exemptions 2 (high). The Department of Homeland Security (DHS) remains committed to protecting and ensuring the safety of its employees. Therefore, Title 5 U.S.C. § 552(b)(2) and (b)(6) precludes the release of this material. FOIA Exemption 2(high) protects information applicable to internal administrative and personnel matters, to the extent that disclosure may put the security and safety of an agency activity or employee at risk.
Redact Employee Name (Points-Of-Contact) (Multiple)	Page 2	FOIA Exemptions 2 (high). The Department of Homeland Security (DHS) remains committed to protecting and ensuring the safety of its employees. Therefore, Title 5 U.S.C. § 552(b)(2) and (b)(6) precludes the release of this material. FOIA Exemption 2(high) protects information applicable to internal administrative and personnel matters, to the extent that disclosure may put the security and safety of an agency activity or employee at risk.
Redact Employee Name (Multiple)	Page 2	FOIA Exemptions 2 (high). The Department of Homeland Security (DHS) remains committed to protecting and ensuring the safety of its employees. Therefore, Title 5 U.S.C. § 552(b)(2) and (b)(6) precludes the release of this material. FOIA Exemption 2(high) protects information applicable to internal administrative and personnel matters, to the extent that disclosure may put the security and safety of an agency activity or employee at risk.
Section I.1 Description Company Name	Page 3	Exemption 4 of the FOIA. This exemption protects "trade secrets and commercial or financial information obtained from a person [that is] privileged or confidential." This exemption is intended to protect the interests of both the government and submitters of information. The very existence of Exemption 4 encourages submitters to voluntarily furnish useful commercial or financial information to the government and provides the government with an assurance that required submissions will be reliable. ³ The exemption also affords protection to those submitters who are required to furnish commercial or financial information to the government by safeguarding them from the competitive disadvantages that could result from disclosure. AND/OR Exemption (7)(E) of the FOIA. This exemption protects from disclosure information which would reveal techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions or that would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if disclosure of the information could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law.
Section I.1 Unit Price Redact Line Item Pricing (Multiple)	Pages 3	Exemption 4 of the FOIA. This exemption protects "trade secrets and commercial or financial information obtained from a person [that is] privileged or confidential." This exemption is intended to protect the interests of both the government and submitters of information. The very existence of Exemption 4 encourages submitters to voluntarily furnish useful commercial or financial information to the government and provides the government with an assurance that required submissions will be

Section I.3 Redact Extended Line Item Price (Accounting Data) Amount (Multiple)	Page 3	Exemption 4 of the FOIA. This exemption protects "trade secrets and commercial or financial information obtained from a person [that is] privileged or confidential." This exemption is intended to protect the interests of both the government and submitters of information. The very existence of Exemption 4 encourages submitters to voluntarily furnish useful commercial or financial information to the government and provides the government with an assurance that required submissions will be reliable. ³ The exemption also affords protection to those submitters who are required to furnish commercial or financial information to the government by safeguarding them from the competitive disadvantages that could result from disclosure. AND/OR Exemption (7)(E) of the FOIA. This exemption protects from disclosure information which would reveal techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions or that would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if disclosure of the information could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law.
Section I.10 (a)(2) Redact Employee Name and Email Address	Page 7	FOIA Exemptions 2 (high). The Department of Homeland Security (DHS) remains committed to protecting and ensuring the safety of its employees. Therefore, Title 5 U.S.C. § 552(b)(2) and (b)(6) precludes the release of this material. FOIA Exemption 2(high) protects information applicable to internal administrative and personnel matters, to the extent that disclosure may put the security and safety of an agency activity or employee at risk.
Section I.10 (a)(3) Redact Employee Name and Email Address	Page 7	FOIA Exemptions 2 (high). The Department of Homeland Security (DHS) remains committed to protecting and ensuring the safety of its employees. Therefore, Title 5 U.S.C. § 552(b)(2) and (b)(6) precludes the release of this material. FOIA Exemption 2(high) protects information applicable to internal administrative and personnel matters, to the extent that disclosure may put the security and safety of an agency activity or employee at risk.
12 Total requested pages
12 Total pages in agency response (partial and entire)
4 Total redacted pages
0 Total pages withheld
19 Total pages provided in their entirety		